

AP Art “I Can” Statements

Creating

I can visualize and generate plans for ideas and directions for creating a new artwork.

I can choose to work with different materials and branch out to try new things.

I can use either contemporary or traditional art practices to make a work of art based on a theme, concept, or idea.

I can experiment, plan, and make multiple works of art and design that explore a personally meaningful theme, idea, or concept.

I can demonstrate that I can follow through and finish a piece of art within the timeframe given to me.

I can reflect on, refine, and revise works of art based on critiques and personal vision.

Presenting

I can critique and justify which of my art pieces should be selected to present for an art show.

I can investigate different methods of preserving my artwork.

I can create meaningful artist statements to present along with my work to give the audience a better understanding of the visual decisions I made within my art piece(s).

Responding

I can analyze how the responses to art can change depending on the process of the piece, the visual choices in the piece, and events going on around me.

I can see what a group of art pieces have in common and how they relate to each other.

Connecting

I can gather knowledge of social, cultural, historical, and personal life with art-making approaches to create meaningful works of art.

I can determine how an artist can make an impact on society based on the behaviors, beliefs, and culture of said society.
